

It's So Crazy

© 2008 Words & Music by Dan Rub

I don't know if I can think anymore
    'Cause it's so crazy
I don't know if I can see anymore
    It's all gone hazy
I don't know if I can care for this world
    We've been so careless
I don't know if I can share anymore
    Of my awareness

Is there anybody that has a clue
About this life or all the things that we do

I don't think so 'Cause it's so crazy
I don't know if I can live anymore
    I've become lifeless
And its so hard for me to give anymore
    When I'm penniless

And it's hard for me to want anything
    It's all out of reach
Or decide what I should take or should bring
    Or what I should keep
Is the love we seek nowhere now here
Can we find it when it never appears

I don't think so 'Cause it's so crazy

From a distance we are only microscopic
    That's profound
Parasitic bacterial infection that abounds

I don't know if I can need anything
    It's all unwanted
I don't know if I can fear anything
    I am undaunted
Never heard a promise that could be kept
    It's always been lies
Every tear I think that ever was wept
    Was just a disguise. Oh
Greed and envy are the root of all that's evil
    This I know.

Egotistic jealousophical perversion
    Let it go

I don't know if I can think anymore
    'Cause it's so crazy.
